Mola, Spanish Rebel General, Dies In Plane Crash

Leader Of Attack On Bilbao Killed With Five Others

Gen. Emilio Mola, Second Only to Gen. Franco in Insurgent Armies in Spain, Is Victim of Crash of Plane in Dense Fog Near Bay of Biscay While Mussolini and Hitler Reported Co-ordinating Forces for Speeding Up of Drive on Basque Capital

Associated Press
With General Franco's troops in northern Spain, June 3.—Gen. Emilio Mola, right-hand man to Generalissimo Francisco Franco, was killed today when the plane in which he was flying crashed near Brivesca in a dense fog.

ON WAY TO BURGOS
Mola, who had been at the Bay of Biscay front, where his men are besieging Bilbao, was flying south to the insurgent-held city of Burgos.

Brivesca, near which the crash occurred at 3 p.m. (7 a.m. P.S.T.), is about twenty-five miles northeast of Burgos.

Berlin, June 3.—Gen. Emilio Mola, one of the chief commanders in the Spanish insurgent army and leader of the current offensive against Bilbao, was killed in an airplane crash, the German news agency reported here tonight.

Details were lacking for the moment, beyond the fact that a plane in which he was riding met disaster in a heavy fog, the agency said.

Since the outbreak of the uprising Mola had been one of the guiding geniuses of insurgent strategy. He was entrusted by Gen. Francisco Franco with the vital assignment of waging the campaign to capture the Basque provinces.

FIVE OTHERS KILLED
Gen. Mola's aide-de-camp, two insurgent officers and two pilots died with him, according to the German agency's announcement, which attributed the report to the radio station at Salamanca, headquarters of the Franco administration.

Tonight's report of Mola's death was the second such report since the uprising began. Last July, a few days after the insurgents had opened their attempt to seize control of Spain, he was listed among the fatalities in a government victory at San Sebastian.

Rebels Down Fifteen Planes
Spectacular Air Victory Over Spanish Loyalists Near Segovia Claimed

Segovia, Spain, June 3.—Insurgent airmen today chalked up one of the greatest aviation victories of the Spanish civil war after bringing down fifteen government planes high above the Quadrado Mountains.

All was quiet on the front north-west of Madrid yesterday afternoon when out of the clouds roared a fleet of nine government bombers guarded by twenty pursuit ships heading toward La Granja—the old summer palace of Spanish kings—where the insurgents have been blocking a government offensive.

They aimed straight for Segovia, where the terrified inhabitants were scurrying to their bomb-proof cellars, but suddenly veered northward along the peaks of the Guadarrama, where the bombers dropped lower to lay "eggs" on the insurgent troop positions.

ATTACKED FROM ABOVE
Suddenly more than twenty-five of General Francisco Franco's planes appeared, flying high above the invaders in perfect formation. Then, fifteen of them dove down in spectacular unison like falcons falling on their prey. One by one they fell out of the close formation, diving 1,000 feet with motors roaring and machine guns wide open.

For ten minutes the government planes swooped and climbed and dove again before they turned tail and sped back in the direction of Madrid, the insurgent squadron in close pursuit.

At the end of the day, the official communiqué listed the casualties: Government bombers, five; government pursuit planes, ten; independent, none.

Indalecio Prieto, above, is now key man on the Loyalist side of the Spanish civil war. As Minister of National Defence in the new cabinet of Premier Juan Negrin he is rushing reorganization of the war, army, navy, air and munitions departments.

Earhart Plane At Paramaribo

Woman Pilot and Navigator Arrive in Dutch Guiana From Venezuela

Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, June 3.—Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Capt. F. Noonan, landed here today at 12.50 a.m. (8.50 a.m. P.S.T.) on the third leg of their round-the-world flight.

FROM VENEZUELA
Miami, Fla., June 3.—Amelia Earhart and Capt. Fred Noonan, her navigator, took off from Caripito, Venezuela, at 11.48 a.m. Greenwich time (3.48 a.m. P.S.T.) today, bound for Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, 750 miles away, on the third leg of their round-the-world flight.

Pan-American Airways, over whose route the two are flying, reported the takeoff of the big twin-motored monoplane was without incident. The world flight was started from Miami, the plan being to cross the South Atlantic from Natal, Brazil, to West Africa.

Depart From France

EX-KING MAY VISIT CANADA

H. L. Rogers Reports Duke of Windsor May Tour Dominions

Tours, France, June 3.—A hint the Duke of Windsor might visit Canada and the other Dominions was given an Australian newspaperman today by Herman Rogers, the Duke's spokesman.

Referring to the Duke's statement to the press expressing his hopes of leading in the future a happy and useful private life, the Australian correspondent asked the meaning of the phrase.

Mr. Rogers said the Duke was not going to sit down to lead the rest of his days either the life of the man-about-town or that of a farmer or country squire. From conversations Mr. Rogers said he had gathered the ambition of the Duke, who he said was in splendid physical condition, was to become a kind of royal peace ambassador and take an unofficial part in international relations which would define itself as time went on.

The Duke often spoke of his former visits and looked forward to revisiting Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand, Rogers added.

British Papers Report Wedding

Pictures of Duke and Duchess of Windsor Published

London, June 3.—London newspapers broke their recent reticence about the Duke of Windsor today and gave full attention to the Chateau de Candé ceremonies that united him in marriage with Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

Under full length portraits of the Duke and his new Duchess in their wedding attire, the press gave the British public front page details of the nuptials.

An unhappy note was sounded, however, by simultaneous newspaper accounts of protests by Church of England bishops against Rev. R. A. Jardine's independent action in performing a religious ceremony for the Duke and his twice-divorced bride.

"No one contests the right of bishops to maintain discipline within the church or to express their views on marriage, but the hard, rancorous tone of these statements will, we believe, shock the public," the editorial said.

"Every sentiment of generosity to the fallen idol, of Christian forgiveness," the editorial said.
(Turn to Page 14, Col. 4)

Associated Press
Chateau de Candé, Monts, France, June 3.—Edward, Duke of Windsor, took Wallis Warfield as his bride and Duchess today, married in a French civil ceremony and that of the Church of England.

Rev. R. Anderson Jardine united the former King Edward VIII and the twice-divorced United States woman for whom he left his throne.

The couple were married first by Dr. Charles Mercier, stocky physician—mayor of this hamlet, in a civil ceremony.

Then, after a brief pause the few present friends gathered in the Louis XVI music room and heard Mr. Jardine, the "poor man's vicar" of Darlington, North England, read the Anglican service at an improvised altar—a ceremony which lacked the sanction of the church.

The religious service was over at 12.14 p.m. local time (3.14 a.m. P.S.T.).

The Duke and Duchess left the Chateau de Candé by automobile at 6.03 p.m. on their honeymoon. They were said to be planning to board a special train at the town of Laroche-Igennes, en route to Austria.

POLICE ESCORT
Before they passed through the Chateau gates in an automobile driven by George Stanley Ladbroke, the Duke's favorite chauffeur, an escort of two motorcycle policemen and an automobile with two gendarmes cleared the way.

A detective rode in the front seat of the Duke's automobile, beside the chauffeur.

DUCHESS WAVES
The Duchess, sitting on the right side of the closed car, leaned against the open window and waved her handkerchief. The crowd at the castle gates cheered.

The Duke sat deep back beside his bride and acknowledged the cheering by nodding his head.

They will spend their honeymoon at Wasserleuben Castle, high in Austria's Carinthian Alps.

THANKS VOICED
In a statement addressed "To the Public" and issued before he and his bride left the chateau to travel to Austria, the Duke thanked all who had wished him and the Duchess happiness. He said:

"The Duchess and I wish to thank all those who have so kindly sent presents and good wishes on the occasion of our marriage.

"We shall never forget their friendly messages, which mean so much to us."

Suspect Held In Texas Today

Dallas, Tex., June 3.—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents here today said they were "not prepared to comment on a suspect held at Fort Worth in connection with the kidnap-murder of Charles Mattson, Tacoma, Wash. boy. The suspect still was held and the investigation was to be continued, it was learned.

The suspect, thirty-one, was arrested yesterday.

Health Insurance Majority Piles Up To More Than 20,000

Sharp Increase In Auto Deaths
Twenty-six Victims of Accidents in Four Months; Much Concern

Automobile accidents in British Columbia this year have increased sharply, causing deep concern to provincial health officers. It was shown in statistics made public today for the first four months.

Fatalities in that period numbered 26, against 17 in the corresponding period of last year. The number of injured increased from 517 to 528, and the total of accidents from 949 to 1,160.

At the present rate the auto death toll in the province this year may go over the 120 mark.

Traffic officers pointed out the increase in accidents, 21 per cent, was out of proportion to the gain in number of motor vehicles operating in the province.

Car registrations for the four months showed a gain of 13 per cent from 76,165 to 85,076.

Inspector G. A. Hood of the motor vehicle branch said that the increase in accidents was almost 75 per cent greater than in the number of cars.

"We are analyzing the causes of accidents carefully," he said. "Our analysis shows the same story, speed and carelessness is the chief reason for crashes. People are driving too fast for the conditions. They have the remedy in their own hands."

Planes Unable To Drop Food Supply at Strike-beset Steel Plant at Niles, N.Y., Low

New York, June 3.—Strike pickets at the crippled steel mills of the Mahoning Valley saw their "strike or starve" ultimatum approaching reality in the Niles plant of the Republic Steel Corporation today as they strengthened their lines at Warren after the shooting of a picket.

Frank Flynn, general manager of the Warren plant, said the food supply at the Warren plant would last for three or four days, but that if planes were unable to make deliveries at Niles "it would run pretty close there" after today.

Low-hanging clouds and rain kept food planes away from the plants. At Akron, Ohio, 5,000 employees of plant No. 1 of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company were idle because of a stoppage of production resulting from sit-downs in four separate departments.

REPRIEVE IN QUEBEC
Quebec, June 3.—Honorat Bernard, under sentence to be hanged tomorrow for the shooting of Provincial Detective Leopold Chateaufort in a January gun fight, was reprieved today until July 9.

Liberal Leads In Doubtful Riding

Results From Mackenzie District Will Complete B.C. Election Returns; Vote Shows Large Increase; Late Returns Made

J. M. Bryan, Liberal, today was leading both Conservative and Co-operative Commonwealth Federation rivals in the doubtful seat of Mackenzie, with thirty-five of forty-five polls reported from Tuesday's British Columbia elections.

Bryan had a plurality of 83 over B. M. MacIntyre and 227 over Herbert Gargrave, C.C.F.

The vote at this stage was: J. M. Bryan (Lib.), 1,714; B. M. MacIntyre (C.), 1,631; H. Gargrave (C.C.F.), 1,487; A. D. Creer (S.C.), 125; G. M. Robertson (Constr.), 115.

The party standing, leaving Mackenzie riding out, remained unchanged overnight as follows:

Liberals elected ..... 30
Conservatives elected ..... 8
C.C.F. elected ..... 7
Independents elected ..... 1
Labor elected ..... 1
Total ..... 47

Mr. Bryan's election would make the Liberal total 31.

If Mr. Bryan is not successful voters of Mackenzie riding have the say as to whether Conservatives would step into the official opposition benches in the next Legislature by virtue of their own numbers.

If the C.C.F. should take the seat, held at the last Legislature by the Constructive forces which were wiped out in Tuesday's polling, it would result in a numerical dead heat for them and the eight followers of Dr. Frank Patterson.

Premier Pattullo said today that if such a case arose, the Opposition forces would themselves decide who they would recognize as official opposition leader. However, with the Liberal candidate holding his lead, and the Conservative having an edge on the C.C.F. candidate, it was not expected such a situation would develop.

Three Medals For Rescues In B.C.

Canadian Humane Association Awards Discs to Two Young Men in Vancouver and One at Ocean Falls; Nine Medals in East

Hamilton, Ont., June 3.—Heroic rescues at two skating accidents have earned recognition for three British Columbians by the Royal Canadian Humane Association. Bronze medals are awarded Roy V. Gibbs and Henry Mangles, Vancouver, and Harry McAllister, Ocean Falls.

Nine other medals are awarded, eight for deeds of heroism in the Maritime Provinces, the other honor going to a Verdun, Quebec, boy.

When two children fell through the ice at Lost Lagoon, Vancouver, January 3, Gibbs and Mangles raced to the scene to find the ice very thin and badly broken. Mangles plunged in, supporting the children while Gibbs threw himself at a ladder, which was put in the water. He propelled it to the three and then worked it back to solid ice, breaking a path by smashing the thin ice with his fists. They were assisted by spectators who had formed a human chain.

ICE RESCUE
Four days later Harry McAllister rescued Monica Mercer and Wesley Burke who had broken through the ice of Twin Lakes while skating. The rescuer managed to support them until assistance was forthcoming.

A parchment certificate is awarded Evelyn Leeder of Vancouver for a rescue at Etanilano Beach, Vancouver, August 11, 1936.

ALBERTA FIRES UNDER CONTROL

Bush Blazes Die Down After Rain, But Fires Break Out in Towns of Clive and Calmar and Losses Total $60,000

Edmonton, June 3.—Bush and forest fires throughout the northern part of Alberta were believed under control today, although high winds were sweeping across much of the province.

Showers fell over much of the Edmonton district late yesterday. Other fires that hit two towns in the Edmonton district today wiped out major portions of the business sections in Clive and Calmar and did damage estimated at close to $60,000.

Seven buildings were destroyed in Clive, sixty-five miles south of Edmonton, with total loss of about $50,000. Almost all of the business section was destroyed in Clive, including a hotel.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed one-half block of the business section of Calmar, thirty-three miles southwest of Edmonton, in a blaze that threatened to wipe out of the town as 200 volunteers fighters organized into bucket-brigades to check the flames.

RAIN FOLLOWS DUST STORM

In Cardston Area of South Alberta Wet Snow Falls

Calgary, June 3.—A "black blizzard," which caused crop and property damage, following the hottest day of the year, gave way to drenching rains, and in one district snow, in southern Alberta early today.

For the first time in many years, a wet snow covered the verdant hills surrounding Cardston, in the far south, 100 miles from Calgary. It weighed down hedges and flowering shrubs and covered crops.

Coming in the wake of one of the worst dust storms in years—a fifty-mile-an-hour wind which yesterday whipped up great clouds of sand and earth—rain fell for hours early this morning throughout the south.

Reports from farm districts today said crop damage was not extensive. There was some damage to power lines, small farm buildings and urban dwellings and highway traffic was halted at the height of the storm, late Wednesday, when visibility was cut to a few yards by the billows of black dust.

BASQUES TAKE HEIGHTS
Bilbao, Spain, June 3.—Basque troops today captured the strategic Lemona heights eight miles southeast of the capital on the Bilbao-Durango road. The successful attack was effected with minimum Basque losses, it was stated.

LA GRANGE BATTLE
Madrid, June 3.—Gen. Francisco Franco hurried reinforcements from Segovia today to relieve several thousand insurgent troops virtually surrounded in La Granja and its nearby high-walled palace.

The arrival of insurgent reinforcements at La Granja, thirty-three miles northwest of Madrid, was signalled by bursting shells and air bombs as insurgent resistance was intensified.

It was not known whether insurgent commanders had been forced to withdraw troops from the Basque front around Bilbao because of the new government pressure on the mountain region.

Madrid, but fighting apparently has subsided in the Basque country during the last three days.

ITALIAN-GERMAN PLANS
Rome, June 3.—Premier Mussolini and Marshal Werner von Blomberg, German Minister of War, were reported today to be co-ordinating Italian and German forces in Spain for an intensified drive under insurgent General Francisco Franco against besieged Bilbao.

The new development was believed to be the outgrowth of an hour's conference between the two leaders, acting as his own war minister, and Germany's first ranking war lord on the tense European situation arising from German bombardment of the Spanish loyalist port, Almeria.

The two were said to have agreed the insurgent offensive against the capital of the semi-autonomous Basque republic on the northern coast of Spain must be pushed vigorously.

Gen. Emilio Mola's army has been hammering at the gates of Bilbao more than a month, blocked by a determined defence of the northern Basque allies of the Madrid-Valencia government along a miniature "Maginot line" of fortifications.

FLEET CONSOLIDATION
Paris, June 3.—A French Foreign Office spokesman disclosed France and Great Britain had agreed in principle today to consolidation of the international fleets patrolling the Spanish coast to isolate the civil war.

The two nations capitulated to German demands for such a unification of the patrol fleet, but held out additional insistence that the international fleet inflict collective punishment for any attacks on neutral shipping.

The Franco-British opposition was based on the contention that such reprisals would lead to continuation of the Spanish strife.

BRITISH NAVAL PLAN
London, June 3.—Britain today made concrete proposals to the governments of France, Italy and Germany to restore the naval ring around Spain. The proposals include:

1. Extension of safety zones.
2. More effective undertakings from both General Francisco Franco and the Valencia government that warships of the patrolling powers shall be respected.

3. Immediate consultation between Britain and France and Italy and Germany should the warships of any of them be attacked.

Germany and Italy have left the naval patrol scheme until they receive adequate guarantees that there shall be no repetition of the Deutschland incident. It is to meet these conditions that the British proposals were made. They are now under consideration at Paris, Berlin and Rome.

Foreign Secretary Eden outlined the steps taken when he discussed Spanish sea with chief delegates to the Imperial Conference this morning. Tomorrow the conference will continue the discussion of foreign affairs, with particular reference to the League of Nations.

Youth Drowned At Island Lake
Lloyd Robinson, nineteen, 4630 West Sixth Street Vancouver was drowned at Great Central Lake yesterday according to advices received at provincial police headquarters today.

The body was recovered at 9 o'clock last night and an inquest was held this afternoon at Port Alberni.

No details of the accident were available.

POPULAR VOTE
Returns from remote sections of British Columbia—from mining camps of the southern interior to fishing and logging villages along the northern coast—continued to trickle in to returning officers today, boosting to more than 400,000 the popular balloting.

With twenty-five constituencies incomplete total ballot marks already had reached 404,244 or 14,737 more than the 389,507 counted after the last British Columbia election in November, 1933.

The ballots by parties, incomplete, with approximate percentages follow:

1. Liberals 151,476 (37 per cent).
2. Conservatives 117,639 (29 per cent).
3. C.C.F. 113,761 (28.7 per cent).
4. Constructives 7,579 (1.9 per cent).

5. Social Credit 4,231 (1.1 per cent).
6. Others 9,378 (2.3 per cent).
The totals and percentages are subject to slight changes when final returns and absentee votes are counted. Due to the multiple ridings in Victoria and Vancouver where a voter marked his ballot for more than one candidate, the ballot totals is considerably larger than the actual number going to the polls. Pending the check by electoral officers, the total of voters who marked ballots is estimated between 260,000 and 270,000, compared with 236,415 in 1933.

In Mackenzie riding the ten isolated polls still to report had a total registered vote of 552. They were Allison Harbor with 118 votes; Blind Channel, 35; Egmont, 63; Loom Lake, 27; O'Brien at 49; Refuge Cove, 39; Shoal Bay, 38; Stuart Island, 82; Tobin Inlet, 27; Wadhams, 74.

Mackenzie's outstanding success was in Powell River, where he took 580 votes to 216 for Bryan and 270 for Gargrave. In the other thirty-four polls reported he led Bryan in only thirteen.

Gargrave would need very heavy majorities in the unreported polls to blot out the 227 plurality Bryan has over him. In the thirty-five polls reported he has headed the Liberal in ten, mostly by small pluralities.

From other parts of the province today complete and practically complete returns were reported. These follow:

FORMER KING AND BRIDE TOUR TO AUSTRIA

today. After the trying time we have been through we now look forward to a happy and useful private life and to that measure of peace which we hope will be granted to us."

NEWSPAPERS THANKED
In another statement, to the press, the Duke thanked newspapermen for their treatment of him and the Duchess. He said:

"The Duke and Duchess of Windsor wished to take this opportunity of expressing to journalists their appreciation of the courtesy which has, for the most part, been shown to them under unprecedented circumstances.

"They would like to be on the record that, although inaccurate statements and reports seem to have been unavoidable during the months which have been trying for all concerned, there has been an evident willingness to contradict them.

"In regard to the future, the Duke realizes that any atmosphere of secrecy would be unsatisfactory and will always be prepared to supply any news of importance concerning the Duchess and himself.

"At the same time, the Duke and Duchess, while fully understanding the difficulties, want this day to appeal to the press of the world to give them that measure of consideration and privacy which they feel now is their due."

The Duchess's wedding gift from the Duke was a handsome diamond necklace. Madame Mercier, wife of the mayor of Monts, gave her a bouquet of red, white and blue flowers.

GIVEN BLESSING
At the religious service the Duke and Duchess knelt on white satin cushions to receive the blessing of Mr. Jardine who, his bishop in England had said, was acting privately, and without the authority of his church.

Only official witnesses and newspapermen attended the civil service in the salon. Then, after refreshments out-of-doors, the guests adjourned to the music room for the religious service made possible by the little English vicar's dramatic eleventh hour offer.

IN FIRM VOICE
"I will," the smiling Duke answered in a firm voice during the religious ceremony.

After him, the blue-eyed forty-year-old Duchess answered "I will" in a voice as firm as the Duke's, but more hushed.

The Duchess was clad in light blue costume was complemented by sparkling sapphire brooches and earrings. From her small straw hat stemmed blue and pink feathers.

After the religious ceremony the Duke and Duchess led their guests back to the terrace. There, a buffet wedding breakfast had been spread.

Edward made a short speech, thanking "all of you people for coming on this occasion so important for us."

The breakfast was an informal gathering, no member of the royal family was present. A few friends of the Duke had come from England.

The bridal couple disappeared for a brief time and then returned to their company. The Duchess had changed to another costume and the Duke had doffed his cutaway for a blue serge suit.

TITLE "HER GRACE"
Just five minutes after the country physician-mayor of Monts had begun the French civil ceremony in the chateau salon, Walls Warfield was "Her Grace," the Duchess of Windsor, wed to the man who abdicated twenty-five weeks ago.

The next few minutes were spent in singing civil documents to comply with the French law.

Dr. Mercier, wearing his red, white and blue sash of office, self-consciously handed the papers to the Monts town clerk, who placed them in an old leather case and bicycled feverishly back to the town hall.

IMPROVISED ALTAR
When the couple re-entered the chateau from the terrace during the refreshment interim between the services, they went separately to the music room, where the newspapermen were seated with the other guests.

Mr. Jardine stood beside the improvised altar made of borrowings from neighborhood churches—wearing his white surplice.

The Duke, accompanied by his best man, Major Edward Dudley Metcalfe, came up the corridor from the dining-room and passed before the assembled guests. He stood before the altar, from the centre of which rose a two-foot golden cross.

A moment later, Herman L. Rogers, United States friend of the couple, escorted in the bride.

DUPRE AT ORGAN
Soft notes rose from the organ as Marcel Dupre played a wedding prelude. Mr. Jardine began reading the marriage ceremony from the Church of England Book of Common Prayer.

Calling the Duke by all his given names the vicar asked:

"Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David, wilt thou love her, comfort her, honor her and keep her...?"

"I will," the Duke answered firmly. The priest then asked the Duchess, calling her "Bessie Walls," if she would "obey, serve, love and honor."

The bride, repeating after the parson, answered in a steady, husky voice "...and to obey until death do us part."

The Duke, also following the minister's reading, took the wedding ring of Welsh gold from Mr. Jardine and placed it on his bride's finger.

"With this ring I thee wed," Edward said, "...and with all my worldly goods I thee endow..."

PRAYERS ASKED
The vicar called on the assemblage to pray, asking that God give His blessing "to this man and to this woman."

"May they remain in perfect love and peace together," he added, "those whom God has joined together let no man put asunder..."

"I pronounce that they be man and wife together, in the name of the

Edward and Walls arose from the white satin cushions on which they had knelt to receive the priest's blessing.

CAKE AND CHAMPAGNE
Now the guests arose and headed for the long table that was crowded with trays of lobster, baked ham, pastries and other delicacies for the buffet wedding breakfast.

In the centre of the table, surmounting the array, was a six-story wedding cake trimmed with white frosted forget-me-nots.

Champagne was passed to all the guests and Major Metcalfe

Church Wedding Of Duke Protested

Bishop of Fulham Wires From England to Rev. R. A. Jardine at Monts, Where Ex-King Married Without Anglican Service Sanctioned

London, June 3.—A poor man's parson, Rev. R. A. Jardine, defied his superiors today to bless the union of the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

The services of Mr. Jardine, who is vicar of Darlington, North England, were volunteered "for conscience sake" and without the approval of the Bishop of Fulham, who has jurisdiction of Anglican church affairs in France.

The Bishop of Fulham, Rt. Rev. Basil S. Barry, after a conference with the Archbishop of Canterbury, announced the vicar had acted without the former's "consent or even his knowledge" and awaited a reply from Mr. Jardine to a telegram of protest. The Bishop informed the Darlington vicar he was "officiating on behalf of the Anglican Church in France without any right or permission to do so."

The Bishop, who has charge of Anglican chaplaincies in north and central Europe, explained his protest thus:

"Mr. Jardine has no ecclesiastical standing in France. Clergy who officiate on behalf of the Anglican Church in France must either hold a license to do so or have permission to do so."

"Otherwise they are acting as private individuals and have not the authority of the church. Mr. Jardine has no authority in this matter to act on behalf of the Anglican Church."

WILL TAKE NO ACTION

No disciplinary action will be taken against Mr. Jardine, by the Bishop, the latter indicated, even though the vicar has incurred the displeasure of his ecclesiastical superiors.

"I shall not take any such action and don't think any will be taken," the Bishop said. "Let me make it clear, moreover, that my telegram is one of protest only. There is no legal point involved."

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

The London News Chronicle bitterly attacked what it styled a "narrow minority" in the church, which failed to recognize the Duke's claim to a church ceremony. The paper said it would provoke only sympathy for the Duke "and anything but sympathy with leaders of organized religion in this country."

The London Daily Express pleaded for "Christian charity" for the Duke and his bride, adding, "they have already endured much and perhaps their anxieties are not at an end."

Other newspapers, abandoning their recent reticence concerning news of the Duke's wedding, placed banner headlines over the news of the religious service, but they steered clear of the controversy revolving about the vicar. The event even overshadowed yesterday's Derby at Epsom Downs.

NO LAMBETH STATEMENT

Lambeth Palace, the Archbishop of Canterbury's residence, had nothing to say on any disciplinary action against the vicar of Darlington. Anglican bishops, while holding his

Ernest Simpson In London Today

Former Husband of New Duchess of Windsor Living Quietly There

London, June 3.—Ernest Aldrich Simpson went about London as quietly as ever today—just as he described himself: "Of very poor nervous value. I'm afraid."

At Monts, France, the woman who was Mrs. Simpson became through the transition of a world-watched marriage the Duchess of Windsor. But Simpson was swallowed by London's crowd's when in bowler hat and business suit he emerged from the protective depths of the Guards' Club at 4 Brook Street, to go to office or theatre.

It has been that way since ship's broker Simpson and his wife went their separate ways last October; she to the Ipswich divorce court, he to "The Guards."

decision was "irregular," were powerless actually to prevent him from conducting the ceremony.

ATTITUDE OBSCURE

The exact attitude of the Church of England on remarriage of divorced persons is obscure. It is the subject of constant argument among the bishops themselves. But there is general objection to the principle of divorce.

One church source said in reference to today's double civil-religious ceremony: "No two people can be married twice. The service he (Jardine) will conduct will be a courtesy ceremony."

DURHAM DIOCESE

Rt. Rev. Herbert Hensley Henson, Mr. Jardine's superior as Bishop of Durham, declared "Mr. Jardine has no authority whatever to officiate in any other diocese than Durham unless he has a sanction from the proper local ecclesiastical authorities."

TWICE CENSORED

The middle-aged vicar twice before has been censured by the ecclesiastical authorities. Once the Bishop of Durham accused him of "a grave breach of propriety" for his work in the Liverpool slums.

"He's an intrepid sort of fellow," a friend commented.

In France yesterday Mr. Jardine said of his decision to perform the service for the Duke's wedding: "I consulted only my own conscience."

A bronze plaque discovered at San Francisco Bay appears to be a record that Sir Francis Drake left there in 1579, and it proved true this would show that the bay was discovered by Drake, not by Portola in 1769.

NOVA SCOTIAN IS MODERATOR

Rev. Dr. Munroe, New Glasgow, Elected By Presbyterian Church of Canada

Ottawa, June 3.—Rev. Dr. Hugh Munroe of New Glasgow, N.S., last night was elected moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Dr. Munroe, minister of Westminster Church, in the balloting led two other candidates for the highest office in the church, and succeeds Rev. Dr. Malcolm A. Campbell of Montreal.

Three were nominated, the other two being Rev. Dr. George E. Ross of Fredericton, and Rev. Peter Reith of Tara, Ont. Mr. Reith was eliminated on the first ballot and Dr. Munroe was declared elected on the second.

PROBLEM OF INDIFFERENCE

In his farewell address as retiring moderator, Dr. Campbell said the main cause for regret in the church was not depleted treasuries or other hardships but indifference.

He told the 300 lay and ministerial commissioners the greatest problem of the church was keeping its members in line, encouraging those officials who believed they had done their share of church work. There is no "share," no finishing mark for carrying on the work of Christ, he maintained.

COINCIDENCE SEEN

The new moderator, Dr. Munroe, remarked on the coincidence that ten years ago he succeeded Dr. Campbell as moderator of the Montreal and Ottawa Synod and now again succeeded him, this time to the highest office the church could bestow.

White-haired, gentle mannered and possessed of a quiet dignity, Dr. Munroe was born in West Zorra Township, Oxford County, Ont., a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Munroe.

Australia Wants Trade Increase

In Toronto Speech Commissioner Says Balance Too Heavily Favors Canada

Toronto, June 3.—Declaring the present balance of trade was four to one in Canada's favor, L. R. Macgregor, Australian trade commissioner, said in a speech here yesterday there should be a revision of trade agreements between the two Dominions. Australia would not continue its present agreements with Canada unless given additional preferences, he told the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in convention.

"Exhaustive surveys," he said, "have been made to determine whether Australia might not increase her trade, but no channel has been found available. It will not be possible to maintain the status unless you increase your preferences unilaterally, and without compensation, to our country."

FAVORABLE ATTITUDE

"I think you should carefully scrutinize this situation. There is a favorable attitude in Australia toward Canadians and Canadian goods. We want to remain on this market and you to remain on ours, but it is necessary for you to make a gesture toward us by way of assistance to us in order that you may maintain your preference in our country."

Canada's major industries had been benefited by political action taken in 1930 through the artificial creation of a market in Australia, said Mr. Macgregor. Australian subsidiary industries had benefited at the same time. He further pointed out the majority of goods sold to Canada by Australia were perishable, while Canadian goods sold to his country were non-perishable.

"There will be considerable difficulty in continuing an agreement which turned out to be much more advantageous to Canada than to Australia," he said. "Your sales to us during the past calendar year amounted to $26,000,000, while our sales to you were only $8,000,000. Considering costs of transportation, etc., the net result is that the trade balance is four to one in Canada's favor."

Archduke Given Divorce Decree

Budapest, June 3.—The Hapsburg Archduke Albrecht, forty, yesterday to the vacant Hungarian throne, obtained a civil divorce today from his beautiful commoner wife, Irene Lelbach, opening the way for possible renewed agitation to place the Archduke on the throne.

The marriage was dissolved by a special court meeting in the old royal palace. They were married secretly at Brighton, England, in 1930.

Let Them Be Happy!

"The Duchess and I wish to thank all those who have so kindly sent presents and good wishes on the occasion of our marriage. We shall never forget their friendly messages which mean so much to us today. After the trying time we have been through we now look forward to a happy and useful private life and to that measure of peace which we hope will be granted us."—Former King Edward the Eighth and now Duke of Windsor.

ON THE TENTH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1936, the King of a few months decided that he could not discharge the great task he had assumed unless it were made possible for him to have the woman of his choice by his side.

There is no need to recapitulate the incidents of those few fateful days of the year that has gone, to churn over again the arguments that were weighed by statesmen, clergy, and the man and woman in the street. Edward the Eighth had made his choice. He made that choice knowing full well the significance of the sacrifice he was making, knowing full well that he was saying farewell to his native land, to his gracious mother—that fine woman who, today, must be very sad. For is not former King Edward the Eighth, now Duke of Windsor, her first born?

Those of us who can take our minds back to that day in 1893 in the Old Country—as boys and girls—when Princess May became the wife of that fine man, her husband, who later was to serve a great Empire as its constitutional chief in the role of King George the Fifth, will be wishing that things had turned out differently.

On more than one occasion Victoria has welcomed the now Duke of Windsor. Then he was Prince of Wales—an Empire ambassador, a distributor of goodwill, a vital force in the promotion of happy and profitable relations between nation and nation. It is not for us to try to pass judgment on a decision which prevented any member of the Duke of Windsor's family attending his nuptials in a foreign land today.

We, on this outpost of Empire, however, pause to wonder why. The son of the late King George, the brother of King George the Sixth, has now taken unto himself a wife. Let us hope they will be happy, that the sacrifice the former King Edward the Eighth made to realize a natural longing, a longing not dictated by parsons, priests, or politicians, will bring to them that "measure of peace" to which both of them look forward.

"Penalty of Stability"

WE SUGGEST TO THE PEOPLE of Victoria and the people of Vancouver Island generally that they ponder this bit of editorial "jitter" from The Vancouver Daily Province of yesterday:

The government of Hon. T. D. Pattullo is to be congratulated upon its return to power with a majority in the Legislature only slightly reduced. It is a question, however, whether the province of British Columbia is to be likewise congratulated. . . . A general election always affords an electorate an opportunity to give an impulse toward better government, to set the stamp of its approval upon progressive policies honestly and efficiently administered. Had the Pattullo government received such an impulse, it could not have ignored it. It must have gone as the electorate directed. It did not receive any direction. So it will take the vote—minority vote though it may be—as a stamp of approval.

For the life of us we do not know what The Vancouver Daily Province means. As we have said many times in these columns, The Vancouver Daily Province never knows what it wants in the form of government, and now it tells its readers by implication that they will have to put up with the "Penalty of Stability"—for that is the heading over its leading editorial of yesterday—for another term of government under the direction of Premier Pattullo.

We say again, what does The Vancouver Daily Province want? What does it mean by the term of "Penalty of Stability"? Does it insist that the electors of thirty or thirty-one ridings of this great province of British Columbia do not know what they want, that what they did in the polling booths on Tuesday they were not in a state of mind to think for themselves?

The minority vote reference, of course, need not be taken seriously. It will delude nobody but a small section of the public that has not studied the election statistics of this Dominion and Great Britain through the years. Governments which have held office in Canada and Great Britain with a minority vote have been the rule not the exception.

Ocean Stunt Flights Passe

THE FACT THAT STEPS ARE being considered to ban "stunt" flights across the Atlantic as too hazardous and useless emphasizes the advance of aviation. It is felt that while the daring, single-handed flight across the ocean was extremely useful in its day, its day is over now. Aviation no longer needs flyers who can take risks; it needs flyers who will prove that risks do not need to be taken.

The free lance flight over the ocean will always be more or less dangerous. Now it is up to the conservative, highly-organized commercial air lines to prove that regularly scheduled ocean flights need not be dangerous. The solo flyer has suffered the fate of all trail blazers—and the trail he blazed no longer needs him.

At the Wrong End

THE ANNOUNCED DECISION OF the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to build two 50,000-watt stations within 400 miles of each other, close to Toronto and Montreal, is meeting with criticism. We agree with The Edmonton Journal that the news will be received with mixed feelings in western Canada.

If the corporation is to start its building programme with two 50,000-watt stations, it is surprising, as The Journal says, that an effort was not made to begin the new service simultaneously in the east and the west. It is in western Canada that "coverage" is inadequate, distances great and population scattered. The locations chosen for the new stations mean that nearly half the area effectively covered by them will lie within the United States. Further, the whole area already is served with powerful transmitters. "Coverage" in the most densely populated portions of Ontario and Quebec will not be improved greatly by interposing 50,000 watt transmitters. Concurrent development in west and east of the national chain of high-powered stations would have afforded welcome evidence of a desire to serve wide areas and, in the west, at least, would have improved reception for many thousands of listeners.

Victory Rides On Wings

IF THE LONG BOMBARDMENT OF Madrid has proved that airplanes alone cannot win a war or a battle, the Spanish war as a whole seems to prove equally well that neither a war nor a battle can be won without any airplanes. The fighting has gone on long enough now to show definitely what the modern airplane is capable of as a military weapon. A survey of the various campaigns hints strongly that when other things are equal, or nearly so, it is the airplane that weighs the balance of power.

The recent rebel army drive against the Basques is the most striking example. The Basque defenders were entrenched among rugged mountain ranges. Man for man, they seem to have been as well-equipped, as well-trained, as disciplined and as brave as the rebels. Under old conditions of warfare, they should have been able to hold out indefinitely.

But the rebels had airplanes and the Basques had none. Trenches and forts on impregnable heights were bombed into submission. Services of supply back of the lines were disorganized. Squadrons of bombers and "hedge-hopping" scout planes armed with machine guns constituted the spearhead of the rebel attack. As a result the Basques were driven steadily back to the very gates of Bilbao.

It is noteworthy, incidentally, that, whenever bad weather made flying impossible, the rebels made no gains. Only when their airplanes could clear the way could they go forward.

Much the same thing has been true in other theatres of the war. Madrid looked like a doomed city at the beginning of this year. Then the government managed to gain the superiority in the air. The rebel drive on the capital was stopped in its tracks. In March came the government thrust at Guadalajara. There, too, the government gained decisive superiority in the air. The result was a complete rout of the defending Italian divisions.

All of this can hardly be misinterpreted. A definite advantage in the air seems to mean victory, if the ground forces are equal. An army which has no air force at all apparently has no chance whatever against a foe which has an air force. Aviation, in brief, is emerging as the deciding factor in modern war.

This, to be sure, is no more than what the aviators themselves have been saying for the last decade or more. But now that the claim is being proved by actual trial in combat, one may be certain that every general staff on earth will let the lesson sink home.

Notes

Paris police, working on a subway murder mystery, hoped to solve it with underground information.

Slogan of the Italian newspaper Ottobre, is "Il Duce is always right." That is one way of simplifying matters for editors.

Those who have succeeded in banning the trans-Atlantic air derby to Paris might well turn their talents now to the summer mosquito marathon.

Somebody wants to know what becomes of youthful prodigies. Many of them are to be found working for the fellow who spent two years in the fifth grade.

Now comes the season when the Monday accident stories remind us how automobiles have changed things for the undertaker who used to consider Sunday a day of rest.

Under the new policy in naval construction, announced from Rome, the Italian navy is to be made "ocean-going," with long-range cruising capacity, so it can operate in the Atlantic, if need be, far from Italian shores. Heretofore, cruising range has been considered unimportant, based on the theory that Italian ships would always operate in the Mediterranean, close to their home bases. Such pre-Mussolini policies are being discarded, now that Il Duce is out "to show the world."

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LONDON.

HIGHLANDER

EVERY EVENING, about five, if you walk up to Leicester Square, you are sure of a free show; or almost free. There is a triangular piece of pavement, around the statue of Sir Henry Irving, and it seems to have been dedicated by the government to all the cheerful fakirs in the kingdom.

Tonight a Highland Scotman had taken possession of the space and was earning his living by the efficiency of our breed. When I elbowed my way through the curious crowd I beheld a man with wild eyes and scowling face, clad only in an undershirt and a kilt. He had a curious helmet on his head, looked about his neck by chains, an iron band and a huge padlock. His hands were tied to his side with hand cuffs and straps and more chains, and his arms were spitted, as you would spit a roasting chicken, behind his back by a sword which ran across his spine and behind his elbows. (This isn't very clear, but you get the idea that he was completely trussed up and his wild face was contorted with pain.)

PENNIES

IN THIS POSTURE he went about the crowd demanding pennies. He was an experienced performer and canny. A dozen pennies were hurled into the empty space about him from the crowd. He looked at them scornfully.

"And ye call yersel's sports," said he with a rich burr. "A dozen pennies for my performance, the most miraculous since Houdini! Come on, now I'll do it without thirty more pennies. Come on, ye sports, ye English sports!" The pennies began to fall again about his feet. An old man in a coat incredibly ragged tossed a coin to the pavement. The Highlander looked at him, saw his poverty and, stooping down painfully, skewered as he was, picked the penny up and gave it back to the old man. "I don't want yer money, mate," he said. "Ye welcome to watch. But these English sports! Look at them, will ye? Two bob, threepence for the most miraculous escape trick since Houdini! And they say we Scotch are mean! Come on, now, come on, I cannot stand here all night like a lark on a spit!"

A few more pennies fell. The Highlander looked at them disgustedly. "Well, that's all the English sports are goin' to give," he said. "I'll have to do my trick for charity, I see."

FIT

WITH THAT HE BEGAN to shake himself violently, as if in a fit. Gradually he shook the sword free from his arms and after he had rushed about the pavement like a mad creature, twitching and gasping and purple in the face, the blade fell free from his hands. Then he pulled the locked handcuffs from his hands, shook himself out of the chains and harness and finally borrowed a girl's hair pin and picked the lock which held the helmet to his head.

"And all that," said he, "for less than three bob. Ye English sports!"

OPERATORS THE STREETS OF London, as you have probably seen for yourself, are filled with operators of this sort. Most of them aren't so spectacular. Most of them merely play a violin or a mouth organ and trust that you will leave a penny in their box. If you gave pennies to all of them you wouldn't have money to pay your fare home. But they make you feel like the oppressor of the poor by always muttering as you pass, "Thank you, sir!" When you haven't given them anything, they "Thank you, sir!" is a cutting sarcasm.

Apparently each one has a space in London which is almost legally his, or hers. No other beggar ventures near it. For example, Fleet Street has a man of obvious education and refinement who stands, in a state of affecting genteel poverty, with a tray of matches, looks at you with a haughty stare, as if to say that he is entitled to something better than a penny. It seems to work all right.

THE WITCH DOWN ON THE STRAND, close to Charing Cross, is an old woman who might be a witch out of a fairy story. I have never seen such a pathetic sight, such rags, such a withered face. She stands there all day and mutters, "Thank you, sir." I have never seen anyone buy her matches, but she seems to make a living. She has been there now for two months to my knowledge.

By The Times is an old fellow who comes fawning up behind you and opens the door of the taxi and trots along beside it until you toss him a penny. The organ grinders are innumerable and there are many concertina players and some young fellows with mouth organs. But best of all I like to hear the aged man, with white flowing locks and beard down to his waist, the very picture of a destitute teacher of classical music, who plays a violin on Piccadilly Circus every night. You never heard such horrid sounds of discord except in a Chinese theatre. It can't fail to make you sorry and charitable.

FROM MRS. HODGES

To the Editor:—May I through the medium of your columns, express my deep appreciation of the many kindnesses shown to me by all sections of the community during the recent election campaign and my gratitude to all those who honored me by their votes on the occasion. I look upon it as a recognition of the contribution which women have to make to the cause of good government, rather than as a personal tribute to myself.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS WANTED TO VOTE

To the Editor:—I would like to inquire through your paper why there was not a voting booth at the pavilion at the hospital here. I am sure there were others besides myself who could have walked to a voting booth had there been one. I noticed while at Tranquille that the patients had a chance to vote. Why not here?

A FARMER'S PLEA TO THE GOVERNMENT

To the Editor:—We have heard all the same old election tosh about the "potential wealth of British Columbia and its basic industry—agriculture. Now, we farmers offer up a silent and earnest prayer that the government give us once a man fully qualified to deal with our all-important and complex problems. What with milk control and vegetable control we poor dirt farmers have been the victims of futile experimentation which, after costing us many thousands, is after all "ultra vires."

To counteract the "S.P.A." I intend founding the "S.P.F.A." (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Farmers) with the sole object of insuring the next Minister of Agriculture is a fully qualified mortician who can embalm and preserve the last remaining species of

Canadian Reindeer Herd Fawning

OTTAWA.

FROM FAR OUT on the northern rim of the continent comes a statement by wireless concerning Canada's reindeer herd. The animals wintered in excellent condition, and about the end of March were moved to the fawning grounds on Richards Island, where fawning commenced on April 9. Reports up to May 6 showed that approximately 1,000 fawns had been born with the fawning season not completed. Fawning usually starts about the middle of April and generally continues until the end of May. Final returns showing the surviving increase to the herd will not be available until the annual round-up in August, when the deer are put through the corals, classified and counted.

The success of the fawning season depends to a great extent upon the advance preparations which have been made by the herders and weather conditions. Despite the fact that the reindeer reserve is located approximately 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle and most of the fawning occurs before the termination of the winter season, the proportion of the young animals which survive is usually around 85 or 90 per cent, indicating that the young possess remarkable stamina at birth. Notwithstanding the low temperatures, the fawns born in the open, survive and a few hours later are walking seawardly about. Within a few days they are scraping about for moss to augment the milk provided by the mothers.

The reindeer as a whole have adapted themselves to the climate and local conditions on the reservation, lying immediately east of the Mackenzie River Delta. The reserve comprises some 6,000 square miles, and includes both summer and winter ranges. Richards Island, a short distance off the mainland, comprising approximately 665 square miles, has proved excellently suited for summer grazing and is readily accessible, the crossing to and from the island being made on the ice. With the gradual replacement year by year of older animals by young stock born in the district, the herd becomes more securely attached to the Canadian range.

Herdling is done by Laplanders brought from Norway, assisted by natives who are encouraged to take part in the handling of the deer and to recognize in these animals a source of sustenance available against hard times which may result from fluctuations in the ordinary game supply, including fur-bearing animals. The herd has already contributed to the welfare of the native population in the surrounding area by providing meat to augment the natural food supply. Notwithstanding the deer killed for this purpose and the usual losses incidental to a live stock enterprise of this nature, there has been a steady increase in the number of the animals from year to year. When the last official count was made by officers of the Department of Mines and Resources at the round-up in August, 1936, the reindeer numbered 3,750, a substantial increase from the original herd of 2,370 animals delivered to the government in March, 1935.

ARTIST'S APPRECIATION

To the Editors:—A week ago it was my privilege to attend a very excellent concert given at the Crystal Garden in aid of the Hard-of-hearing Club, which now consists of seventy or more members.

Had the price of admission been five times as much, it would have been all too little to have heard the magnificent performance given by Pierre Timp that evening and to witness the clever and delightfully artistic "tapping" of that charming little artist, Miriam Schwabe, of whom we see far too little. Of Miss Coombe, the able organizer, and Miss Doreen Wilson, whose lovely voice is always enjoyed—two much cannot be said. These artists are ever ready to give of their time and talent for a good cause. May we have a repetition of this excellent concert very soon, with many more to come, so that the necessary funds for this excellent cause may be quickly raised.

NEW 4-Purpose Rinse restores Hair Beauty robbed by summer's sun, wind and water.

Your hair need not be parched looking, drab, or stringy this summer. Lovalon used after a shampoo does these 4 things:

1. Highlights the hair, restores sparkling life, gleaming lustre and a healthful glow.
2. Tints as it rinses. Accentuates your hair's natural color, "blends in" faded strands.
3. Rinses away shampoo and soap film.
4. Keeps your hair neatly in place and helps preserve a permanent or finger wave.

Try any one of the 12 shades in which Lovalon is made, and see what wonders it does for your hair. ## Esquimalt Girl Pretty Bride

Miss Elsie Deaville Married To Mr. Fred Wheelley

Esquimalt United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, when the nuptials were celebrated of Miss Elsie Lucille Deaville, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Deaville, 1325 Esquimalt Road, and Mrs. James Alfred (Fred) Wheelley, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wheelley, 314 Arnot Avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. W. Anderson.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a floor-length sleeveless gown of creamy Spanish lace, with flared skirt and matching coat. Her veil of embroidered net was confined by a coronet of orange blossoms, and a bouquet of white carnations and red roses completed her toilette.

Mrs. Gordon Corliss, matron-of-honor, wore a flock of peach silk net with puffed sleeves, and four ruchings trimming in full skirt and contrasting sash and bow of Nile green velvet. The bridesmaid, Miss Kathleen Giles, wore a similar frock in Nile green net with accessories in peach velvet. Both carried bouquets of peach gladioli and snapdragons and wore wreaths of tiny flowers to match.

Mr. William Deaville, the bride's brother, was groomsmen and Mr. Ralph Holt and Mr. Gordon Corliss were ushers.

While the register was being signed the bride's cousin, Miss Dorothy Parsons, sang very beautifully "Bridal Dawn," accompanied on the organ by Mr. Edward Parsons. The church was decorated by young friends of the bride.

RECEPTION HELD

An informal reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. W. A. Deaville, wearing a black crepe-de-chine ensemble and hat of corded silk with spray of pink flowers, was assisted by Mrs. Wheelley, attired in a chiffon velvet gown in wine color with hat in suite. Both costumes were completed with corsage bouquets of pink roses.

Pink was the predominating color of the floral decorations in the reception rooms, where, under an archway of pink and silver, the happy couple received the congratulations of their friends. The color scheme was repeated in the table decorations when a buffet supper was served, and the handsome three-tiered cake was cut by the bride. Songs by Miss Phyllis Deaville, another cousin of the bride, were greatly enjoyed.

The many beautiful gifts, testifying to the popularity of both bride and groom, included a handsome electric sandwich toaster from the Esquimalt United Church and a table lamp from the Centennial Church Y.P.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheelley left on the boat for the mainland, where they will visit in Vancouver, Harrison Hot Springs and other points of interest. On their return, they will reside at 1423 Cradock Street, Esquimalt. The bride travelled in a smart ensemble of rust color, the tailored coat cut with flared skirt and matching French sailor hat. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wages from Salt Spring Island and Mr. and Mrs. L. Parsons, Chemainus.

Beaux-Arts Plan Summer Dance

Last evening at the home of Miss Pat Catroll, the executive of the Beaux-Arts, Denis Humphries in the chair, discussed plans for the forthcoming annual summer flannel dance to be held this year for the first time in the palm room of the Crystal Garden. A Hawaiian motif, taking the form of "Luau," promises something most original, and Miss Eileen Cullum and the general convener, Miss Catroll, are working hard on the details. Len Acres is again leading the orchestra, and planning a real surprise with the vocal numbers. The dance this year is to be held June 25. Arrangements were completed for the final meeting of the year, the general meeting for June 17, when a new executive will be chosen and the year's activities come to a close.

Junior W.A. Night Big Success

Bathing Belles In Parade At Auxiliary Party

Bathing suits as worn by bathing belles between the years 1897 to 1937 were paraded before a large crowd at the Crystal Garden last evening, as one of the highlights of the very successful "Junior W.A. Night" arranged by the Junior Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Described as "The Passing Parade," the girl mannequins modeled the bathing suits at the north end of the pool and then climbed to the highest spring board, where they posed for a moment, the spotlight making the scene most effective.

Miss Betty O'Brien and Miss Donald McEwen were greeted with hilarious applause as they appeared in the quaint bathing costumes of bygone days. Miss O'Brien's suit was of printed material and featured long pantaloons, while Miss McEwen's suit dated to 1907 and was dark blue with rick-rack braid with shorter pantaloons and hat. Both carried parasols. Miss Margaret Vanspire appeared in one of the first wool suits, which was worn about 1917 and was maroon color, trimmed with white, and Miss Drucilla O'Neill wore a 1927 suit of black wool trimmed with white.

These mannequins, together with Miss Helen Schwengers and Miss Laura Catterall, were also seen in the newest of summer beach wear. Miss Laura Catterall was "Miss 1937" and showed for the first time in Victoria the skin-tight suit in twill material which is the last word in swim apparel. Play-girl suits, culottes, beach and house coats and silk latest suits were among the stunning beach wear modeled for this summer, and were shown through the courtesy of the Hudson's Bay Company.

By special request the "Spring Ballet" given on a former occasion, by the boys was repeated, those taking part in the amusing number being Messrs. Tom Leeming, John Gray, Charles Shearer, Ian and Richard Angus, Denis Humphries, Tom Coventry and "Bud" Pangman.

Home-made candy was sold by members of the auxiliary under the direction of Miss Phyllis Winterbottom. Mrs. H. A. Henry was in charge of the "Passing Parade" and Miss Maureen Grute directed the ballet. Miss Dorothy Baxandall was the general convenor.

Dancing took place from 9.30 till 1 o'clock. The proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the purchase of a mobile X-ray machine for St. Joseph's.

THEY'RE SO CRISP!

The SPRATT FAMILY solves a problem

YES, indeed! Everybody likes Kellogg's Rice Krispies. Children and grown-ups alike agree that there's no crispier, more delicious cereal than these tasty bubbles of toasted rice! They are so crisp, they crackle out loud in milk or cream!

Rice Krispies are light, wholesome, and easy to digest. Serve them for breakfast, lunch, and for bedtime snacks (they never interfere with sound sleep). They are extra delicious with fruit or berries added. And they're always ready to serve.

Grocers everywhere sell Rice Krispies. Restaurants, hotels and dining-cars serve them. A Mother Goose story illustrated in color — the kind that children love — is printed on the back of every package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

SO CRISP they crackle in milk or cream

AFRAID to Love

by MARION WHITE © 1937 NEA SERVICE, INC.

She walked across town to the Grand Central Station. If she lingered in the bus terminal too long she might attract attention. She bought a newspaper and turned immediately to the classified columns.

One after one she read the advertisements of rooms to rent. She checked off only those which specifically quoted the price.

At ten o'clock she visited the first one on her list. It was in an untidy house on a poor side street, and it looked out over a dreary vista of roof tops. Mrs. Griggs, the landlady, showed her the room. Here might be refuge, at least until she had thought this whole terrible thing through, and planned her next move. Without a moment's hesitation, Joan handed Mrs. Griggs six dollars for the first week's rent.

CHAPTER XXVI

Before noon on Friday, Sybil drove out to the airport to meet Bob. She had hired him only of the sudden death of her uncle, sparing the details, and begging him to return at once. In reply, he promised to take the first available plane.

Sybil's eyes were red with weeping as she greeted him.

"What happened, Sybil?" Bob asked her in horror-stricken tones. "He was so perfectly well when I left—"

"He shook her head sorrowfully. "I'll explain in the car. . . . Do you mind driving, Bob? I'm so terribly upset."

"Of course," he replied. He helped her gently into the car, tucked the robe about her feet. As he walked around and got into the seat beside her, she wiped away the last traces of her tears.

"It was a heart attack, I suppose?" he asked, once they were under way. "No. Nothing like that. . . . Oh, Bob, my dear!" Her tears burst forth afresh, and her voice was slightly hysterical. "How can I ever tell you?"

"Tell me what, Sybil?" His tone was anxious. "What did happen to him?"

"Uncle John—was murdered—"

"Murdered! My God, Sybil, you can't mean it!"

He pulled over to the side of the road and stopped the car, so shocked, for the moment, to drive farther.

"You don't mean it, Sybil!" he protested, searching her face for a denial.

"It's true, Bob. I can't believe it myself. But there's no doubt—"

"Who did it? When did it happen?"

Briefly she explained how she had come to find the body.

"I couldn't sleep, Bob," she emphasized, "thinking of Uncle John all alone in the house with that money—"

"Bob started. "The money! I'd completely forgotten it. Whoever did this—"

"That's what the police believe," Sybil agreed. "Someone who knew about the money—"

"But that's impossible, Sybil," he protested. "Nobody knew about it"

RARE STAMPS TO BE SEEN

A stamp exhibition arranged by the Vancouver Island Philatelic Society will be opened at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon by Mayor Andrew McGavin in the Duke of Kent room at the Empress Hotel, as one of the early features of Victoria's Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

The society, with an active membership of eighty-two, will display 150 frames of collected stamps. No effort has been spared to make the exhibition of interest not only to the specialists, but to the general public.

Posters advertising the event were made by grade school children, and prizes were awarded to Norma Beschizza (silver cup), Charlie Lowe, Victoria Lyle, Dorothy McKay, Thomas Enge and David Yuen. Special mention was received by Peter Yong, Henry and Jack Lee and Lily Julisawa.

G. P. Bainbridge, philatelic specialist from Vancouver, will judge the frames, and prizes will be awarded tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. J. K. Hodges, wife of the honorary president of the society.

During the exhibition Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sullivan, Ottawa, and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Clarke will be guests at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Sullivan is Deputy Postmaster-General of Canada. Mr. Clarke is district director of postal service for British Columbia.

SEATTLE EXHIBIT

Several members of the Victoria society returned yesterday from Seattle, where Robert M. Angus, J. K. Hodges, wife of the honorary president of the Pacific Northwest Federation of Philatelic Societies at the annual meeting and exhibition.

The next meeting would be held in Victoria, it was decided. More than 450 frames of stamps were shown in Seattle. The following awards were won by British Columbia exhibitors:

Grand award for the exhibition, silver cup—Henry Whittaker, Vancouver Island Philatelic Club.

Grand award for best collection exhibited, silver cup—Henry Whittaker, with collection of Sudan.

Eugene Church Memorial Cup, to be held for one year by the club winning the grand award—Won by the Vancouver Island Philatelic Society by virtue of Mr. Whittaker winning grand award.

Gerald Wellburn won this same cup last year, with his British collection, the Vancouver Island Club having won it the first two consecutive years since its inception.

Mr. Whittaker also obtained a first award for Egypt and a second award for Sudanese postmarks.

W. J. Davey of the Vancouver Island Philatelic Club won a first award for Hawaii and a second award for Australian, and was runner-up to Mr. Whittaker for the grand award.

Mr. Forest of the same club obtained a second award for his Chinese collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Helen of Duncan, members of the Vancouver Island Club, obtained first award for Irish and air mails respectively.

Peter Cromie of Vancouver won the junior award silver cup with his air mail collection.

The only other senior award was made to Henry Hill of Bremerton with his specialized one stamp collection of Hawaii, for which he obtained a gold medal.

Dorothy Cox Pupils Dance

All children love to see a marionette show. This will be one of the extremely interesting features tomorrow night at Miss Dorothy Cox's dance display in the Shrine Auditorium.

The entire characterization and costuming will be typical and to make it more realistic masks will be worn by the dancers.

An entirely new idea, presented to Victoria audiences, will be a troupe of girls lightly springing through hoops while tapping to a charming rhythm.

Danced to the music of Ketelbey, the young dancers gracefully moving to the melody and the chanting of the Monks in the distance, the Monastery Garden Ballet will be a most appealing number. Other numbers will be to the music of Chopin, Durand, Rubinstein and well-known composers.

New York Commission Suspends Braddock

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

THEY WANTED to know what War Admiral would do when looked in the eye.

War Admiral gave them their answer when Pompoon, on the rail, pulled up alongside of the little Man o' War colt and actually took the lead in the stretch of the Preakness.

In War Admiral's case, the Prekness was one of the most trying assignments ever given a runner.

With Charley Kurtsinger having an armful of horse through practically the entire mile and a quarter, War Admiral turned in the second fastest Kentucky Derby on record.

Only one Prekness has been turned faster than War Admiral's. High Quest came down in front in 1934 in 1:58 1-5, but this was a lightning-fast strip, and he had his famous staminate, Cavalcade, roaring at his heels.

On an off track and favored by none too good a ride, War Admiral negotiated the mile and three-sixteenths only a fifth of a second slower.

It looks as though Pompoon in his three-year-old year is destined to be what Discovery was to Cavalcade. But for the presence of War Admiral, Pompoon, from a sprinting line, would be considered a capable router in a season of pretty good three-year-olds.

Samuel D. Riddle's prize has all the speed that Discovery and Head Play, which lacked racing soundness, possessed. Discovery beat King Saxon by eight lengths in the Brooklyn Handicap of 1935, with Samana two lengths in back of King Saxon. This gives you a rough idea of War Admiral's pick up and go.

Present indications are that War Admiral is the year's best horse of any age, just as the three-year-old Granville was in 1936.

To date, War Admiral has never been worse than third, and that only once. He has won seven of ten starts, was twice second, and showed the other trip. He has earned $121,935.

Few American thoroughbreds have been high class both at two and three. Man o' War was one. Reigh Count was another. Twenty Grand was a third.

But Gallant Fox, Omaha, Granville, Bold Venture, Brevity, Head Play, Gusto and others, which either scaled the heights or went a considerable distance at three, failed to stir up too much excitement as juveniles. Equipose was remarkable at two, but broke down at three, and had to postpone his pyrotechnics for a year.

If War Admiral remains sound—something few spring phenomena have done—he has little to defeat among older heads now in training. Rosemont, Time Supply, Shark, Whopper, Calumet Dick, Grand Manitou, Seabiscuit, Special Agent, Memory Book, Indian runner, Indian Runner, and the rest do not seem to be in the same bracket with War Admiral.

Rosemont and Seabiscuit are something in the way of race horses on occasion. Seabiscuit, a son of Hard Tack, himself a son of Man o' War, is vastly improved, but somehow neither Rosemont nor Seabiscuit seems to have the qualities of War Admiral.

Only time will tell whether any of the other three-year-olds will develop to be in War Admiral's class.

The Admiral should further demonstrate his superiority over his own division in the Belmont Stakes at a mile and a half on Saturday.

War Admiral can't win all of the big stakes because of their profusion. Pompoon lost nothing but time, money in the Derby and Prekness, both of which brought Jerry Louchheim's entrant higher in expert opinion. Pompoon should win his share of races before the year is out.

As for the remaining three-year-olds, Melodist, Mosawtre, Chicolodoro, and a goodly number of others do not appear to be first rate, though useful enough. Privileged moving smartly as a two-year-old, and may yet be one of the year's finest. Reaping Reward is far from done for.

Titleholder And His Manager Must Pay $1,000 Fines

Boxing Moguls Take Action Over Braddock's Refusal to Meet Schmeling

Champion Meets Louis June 22

Associated Press—New York, June 3.—The New York State Athletic Commission today slapped an indefinite suspension on heavyweight champion James J. Braddock for his failure to appear for a fifteen-round title bout with Max Schmeling of Germany.

The commission also fined Braddock and Joe Gould, his manager, $1,000 each.

General John J. Phelan, commissioner chairman, announced the New York solons had notified all state athletic commissions affiliated with the New York board that it would suspend any boxer meeting Braddock before the champion goes through with his contract to defend his title against Schmeling.

This was taken to mean that Louis, if he goes through with his Chicago bout against the champion, automatically would be suspended in New York state.

Braddock is to meet Joe Louis, negro heavyweight, in Chicago, on June 22.

Dean Refuses To Sign Any Apology

Pitching Star of St. Louis Cardinals Remains Indefinitely Suspended As Result; Ford Frick, National League President, Demands Written Statement From Dizzy

Associated Press—New York, June 3.—Dizzy Dean today refused to sign any statement of apology to the National League for his actions on and off the baseball field. He consequently remains under indefinite suspension.

"It's now strictly up to Dean as to whether his suspension lasts for twenty-four hours or three months," declared Ford Frick, president of the National League yesterday after disclosing an accumulation of Dean's statements reflecting too pointedly upon league officials and umpires.

"It's got down to a question of whether Dean is bigger than the National League," said Frick. "I don't think he is. This can all be settled quickly if Dean sees the error of his ways, frankly apologizes to the league for the things he has said or implied, and puts it in writing."

Dean suddenly became a man of few words after being notified of his suspension personally by Frick, who reached the pitcher in the clubhouse at Ebbetts Field yesterday, shortly before the Cardinals engaged Brooklyn Dodgers.

Dizzy told newspapermen: NOTHING TO APOLOGIZE FOR. "If I had anything to apologize for I'd do it, but I didn't say any of the things Frick wants me to apologize for."

Frick's summary action was the direct result of statements attributed to Dean since the memorable "battle of Sportman's Park." May 19 at St. Louis, where New York Giants gained a 4 to 1 decision over Dean in a game that ended in a ninth-inning riot.

Dean was fined $50 for his part in the disturbance. Subsequently, Frick charges, Dean "popped off" about the alleged shortcomings of the National League in general and its president and umpires in particular.

Frick, a New York sports writer before he became president of the National League in 1934, denied Dean's suspension had anything to do with the pitcher's troubles with sports writers during the training season in Florida.

Last night Dean let loose one of his customary blasts in the presence of sports writers and several of his teammates.

"I'd rather jump out that window (he was on the twentieth floor) than sign the letter of apology tendered me by Frick," said Dean.

"Frick wants me to sign the apology to make me, Dizzy Dean, a heel and himself, Ford Frick, a hero." Dizzy couldn't recall all of the text of the apology, but said that one part of it accused him of throwing bean balls at the Giants in their May 19 ball game, which ended in a ninth inning riot with Dean playing an important role.

"I never threw a ball except maybe to dust a man off and keep him from getting a toe hold at the plate. That's

Continues Win Streak By Hurling New York Yankees to 8 to 4 Win Over Cleveland; Chicago Cubs Set Down Giants as Rookie Stars on Mound

While Dizzy Dean was being banned and refusing to sign any and all apologies yesterday, three other old-established firms and two new ones were making potent bids for recognition on a basis of services rendered.

The trio of veterans who passed new milestones by effectiveness were, in the order of their teams' standing: Darrell Elijah (Cy) Blanton, Charley Ruffing and Van Lingle Mungo.

Blanton pitched his third shutout in setting down the Boston Bees 2 to 0, and keeping the Pittsburgh Pirates on top of the National heap; Ruffing got his fourth straight victory in a seven hit, 8 to 4, shellacking of the Cleveland Indians to stretch the New York Yankees' American League margin to four games, and Mungo, big Brooklyn right hander, pitched the Dodgers to within half a game of the Cards by halting St. Louis 6 to 2.

Newcomer Lefty Clyde Shoun, twenty-two-year-old Chicago Cub recruit, won 2 to 1 over the New York Giants for his fourth year and the Cubs' seventh straight, and George Robert Tebbets, the Detroit Tigers' chunky third string catcher, hit an eleventh inning homer with two on to give Detroit an 11 to 8 verdict over the Washington Senators.

Shoun was with Birmingham of the Southern Association last season while Tebbets, except for the last ten games of the season, spent all of the 1936 campaign with Beaumont of the Texas League.

Shoun already has built up a name as a giant-killer, three of his four victories have been scored at the expense of Bill Terry's club.

In the only other game played the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Philadelphia 8 to 4.

COAST LEAGUE
San Francisco's Mission Reds and the Oakland Aacorns, the browbeaten stepchildren of the Coast Baseball League, can take early game leads and hold them, sometimes.

The Oaks trimmed Los Angeles 6 to 3 last night, holding the Angels scoreless until the ninth inning. Tuesday the Aacorns took a comfortable lead in the first inning, but the Angels won.

The Missions took an early lead against Seattle Tuesday night, but before the lights went out were on the short end of the score. Last night the Reds again took an early lead, withstood a determined Seattle batting attack led by big Mike Hunt, who blasted his fifteenth homer and finally won 8 to 7.

A home run by Ted Norbert, triple by John Gill, doubles by Harley Boss and Frankie Wright and three singles out of four by Hal Rhine helped Gene Lillard win his ninth game as the Seals beat the second place Sacramento Solons 7 to 4.

It took the Portland Beavers ten innings and a smashing double by Moose Clabaugh with two on the bags (Turn to page 10 Col. 2)

Campbell River Is Place Of Surprises

A Delightful Spot to Visit Or Spend Holiday

Vancouver Island is a place of many surprises but there is no part of it more of a surprise than the little town and district of Campbell River up at the north end of the Island Highway. Here is a town justly famous all over the world for its salmon fishing . . . and many people have been led through this to believe it is a fishing resort only and that there is very little to attract others to visit there. How erroneous is this idea may soon be proven by planning to spend some part of this summer up there. Fishing there is, of course, plenty of it . . . but there are many other attractions as well to please all visitors and tourists.

PICTURESQUE SETTING

The town of Campbell River lies at the entrance to Seymour Narrows, a picturesque waterway on the famous inside boat lane to Alaska. The main street winds directly along the shore and the view out across the blue waters to the islands and beyond to the snow-capped peaks of mainland British Columbia is in itself worth seeing. From the town a road leads off into the higher hills . . . to Forbes Landing, upper Campbell Lake and the great natural beauty of parkland and rushing waters that is Elk Falls.

The Willows Hotel, facing out over the water at Campbell River is one of the best in the way of accommodation. Spotlessly clean, its rooms are spacious, airy and comfortable. The big dining-room has windows looking out to the sea, and meals are well cooked and perfectly served. It is this hotel, too, that is the mecca of the Tye Club Clan whose membership boasts many from distant places. There are Indian curios in the comfortable lounge and pictures of famous fishermen on the walls. It is, indeed, a place of comfort and ease.

MODERN AUTO CAMPS

For those who like the easy informality of an auto camp, Painter's offers everything that is modern and up-to-date. Mr. Painter is a great fisherman and he has handled many famous fishing parties at his camp. Cabins, boats, tackle, everything for the enjoyment of guests is right at hand. The camp is situated right along the edge of the Seymour Narrows.

Further along the Mennies Bay Road there is the Tye Auto Camp. Here one finds a number of pretty green and white cabins clustered about the water's edge . . . others high on a grassy bank above the shore. The Tye Camp is on a bend of the shoreline which gives it complete privacy while still being close to the centre of everything. The cottages look out over the water toward the sunset. Every cottage is clean and new. There are boats and fishing tackle and good parking space for all cars right above the camp.

The district of Campbell River abounds in interesting things to do. There are trails into the hills to follow . . . boat trips to surrounding islands . . . swimming, hiking, tennis . . . and last, but not least, the great Tye fishing season to attract tourists from all over the world. Campbell River rightly merits its place as one of Vancouver Island's better vacation districts.

PLANT SOCIETY HAD MEETING

Wild Flower Preservation Group at Mrs. Biggerstaff Wilson's

A meeting of the Society for Preservation of Native Plants of British Columbia was held in the garden at the home of Mrs. Biggerstaff Wilson, 1770 Rockland Avenue, yesterday afternoon. The hostess extended her hospitality by asking the members to remain for tea, which was served in the garden.

As many of the members present had recently joined the society, the president, Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie, confined her remarks to explaining the chief aims of the society, its method of working and such progress as had been made.

The forty members present thoroughly enjoyed the delightful garden, and great interest was shown in the wonderful variety of iris and rock garden plants. The general feeling was summed up when one member exclaimed: "If only we could always hold meetings in a garden."

Many suggestions were made as to ways in which the preservation of certain species of plants might be advanced, but full discussion was reserved for a general meeting of the society, which will be held at the end of September.

Prepare Bleachers For Lacrosse Box

Specifications for portable bleachers for the lacrosse box in the Athletic Park were being prepared in the city building inspector's office today as arrangements went ahead for the use of the provincial government constructed enclosure early next week.

The parks committee was scheduled to meet this afternoon to discuss construction of the bleachers. Work on the box itself was reported near completion. It will be ready for use early next week.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Federated Budget Board of Greater Victoria will meet in the Y.W.C.A. at 8 o'clock, next Monday evening. Election of officers and selection of executive, budget and campaign committees will take place.

Bank clearings in the city for the week ended June 3 were $1,931,260, according to a statement issued this morning by the Victoria Clearing House. Figures for the corresponding period last week were $1,904,401.

Instead of a double-yolked egg, a hen laid a double-shelled egg for Tom Robertson, 180 Joseph Street, according to information received this morning. The shells were both perfectly formed hard shells, one inside the other.

A number of dog owners who have failed to pay the current year's licence fee were summoned into the City Police Court this morning. Several were granted remands for a week to allow them an opportunity to pay while one was fined $5, the amount of the licence for his dog.

Four sets of tenders will be submitted to the City Council at its meeting on Monday night. They will include bids for a new sedan for the police department, uniforms for the firemen, electrical supplies and plumbing required in the market building.

No Early Decision On Cabinet Posts

New Trade Minister Will Be Appointed After Session in Fall, Says Premier; May Retain Attorney-General's Office For Some Time; Cable From Mackenzie King

Premier T. D. Pattullo, pleased with the substantial endorsement for his government from the voters of British Columbia on Tuesday, will mull over probable additions to his cabinet at a short holiday at Harrison Hot Springs this week-end.

Cabinet makers today were speculating upon probabilities for two ministry portfolios, the new trade and industry portfolio, that of Attorney-General which the Premier now holds himself. In government circles, however, it was understood neither will be filled for several months at least. The Premier said this morning that legislation will be brought down at the fall session to change the Constitution Act and set up a new trade department. He intimated that the cabinet post for this department will not be filled until after the legislation is passed.

The Premier expressed regret that Byron Johnson in Victoria, and Stanley S. McKee of Vancouver, were defeated on Tuesday. They were regarded as the likely two candidates to be offered the new ministry. "I have some plans in mind," was the Premier's only comment on his announcement.

The Premier said he was not ready to make any commitment regarding the office of Attorney-General. Norman W. Whitaker, K.C. of Saanich, and Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., Vancouver Centre, also possibilities for the office. If and when the Premier decides to relieve himself of the duties. However, it is reported as likely the office will not be changed for some time.

Members of the cabinet, all re-elected on Tuesday, were on their way to Victoria today from their respective ridings where they waged the campaign right up to the last minute. Most of them will be in town for the week-end and an executive meeting will be held early next week. Several are planning short holidays to rest up after the election fight.

Clearing his desks before going to the mainland, the Premier today read through a sheaf of congratulatory telegrams from all over the province and Canada.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, cabled from London, as follows: "My colleagues at the Imperial Conference join with me in extending heartfelt congratulations to your colleagues and yourself upon the renewal of confidence so generally expressed by the electors of British Columbia in your administration. We also send our best wishes for your new term of office."

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, was also the recipient of many telegraphic messages of congratulation from the mainland and from eastern Canada.

When the cabinet reassembles after the post-election holidays plans will be laid for the next session of the Legislature, which must start before November 20, and for the province's presentation to the Royal Commission on provincial taxation and finances. J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., will be counsel before the commission, assisting the Premier, Mr. Hart and other ministers in presenting British Columbia's case.

Strike Picket Is Wounded

Warren, Ohio, June 3.—One man was shot and slightly wounded in one of a series of skirmishes on the picket line at strike-bound Republic Steel Corporation plant here today, police reported.

Identified as Steve Young, fifty-five, a picket, the man was taken to a hospital, where he received treatment for gunshot wounds and was released.

Strike leaders said Young was shot by a company guard as pickets sought to prevent six non-striking workers from running the blockade into the plant to go to work.

Woman Hit By Thug; Two Hunted

Vancouver, June 3.—Police today sought two men wanted in connection with an assault on Miss E. Franzen, downtown hotel proprietor.

The pair entered the office where Miss Franzen was alone and inquired the cost of a room. As she told them one of the men suddenly struck her in the face, then fled with his companion. No explanation for the attack was given.

FOREST FIRE AT JACK LAKE

Blaze Report in Kapoor Lumber Company Holdings On Goldstream Watershed

Breaking out between noon and 1 o'clock today, fire spread through the Goldstream watershed timber limits leased by the Kapoor Lumber Company this afternoon, the first forest blaze in this region this season.

Fragmentary reports from employees of the city's waterworks system placed the location of the blaze to the southeast of Jack Lake. Kapoor people, reached by telephone about 2 o'clock, stated the fire was burning about seven or eight miles from the Kapoor mill. The company sent gangs to the scene of the fire, but reports of its size or the possibility of bringing it under control speedily could not be gained.

Ervie McDonald, waterworks superintendent for the city, stated city men reported the blaze was in the Kapoor workings. It could not damage the water system plant at Goldstream, but might have serious effect upon the standing and cut timber in the Kapoor holdings.

Evidence of the fire was seen in the city as billows of smoke rose out of the hills, spreading as the afternoon wore on.

Mainland Fires Fanned By Wind

Damage Around Vancouver Set at $50,000 Following Storm

Vancouver, June 3.—The lower mainland today reckoned the damage yesterday's wind storm as more than $50,000.

The wind, which blew from noon yesterday until early this morning at sustained velocity of between twenty-two and twenty-five miles an hour and at times reaching thirty-five, fanned destructive fires, interrupted power and communication services, blew down trees and scattered small craft from their moorings.

Most serious damage occurred in outlying districts. Wade's mill, at Port Kells, valued at approximately $7,000, five sections of lumber, 300,000 lbs. awaiting shipment and three Canadian National boxcars were destroyed by flames.

Fire licked over the peat lands of the nearby Delta district. On Lulu Island five families were left homeless following a wind-fanned blaze that began from a small brush fire.

In a sawmill district east of New Westminster a score of Japanese fled from a large boarding house and five private residences to escape from flames.

In Vancouver city and surrounding suburban districts brush fires and house fires kept firemen busy. The Vancouver city fire department estimated fire apparatus was sent into action every ten minutes, but the damage was not severe in any case.

"Nightie" Frock

Justin Gilbert, inventor, craftsman and maker of fine violins, and member of the Rotary Club, stood up to receive the applause of the club after Arthur Kerr, manager of the local Remington-Rand office, had told of his work.

Mr. Kerr traced the 233-year-old history of the typewriter, then showed a moving picture demonstrating some of the 10,000 separate operations involved in assembling a modern machine.

The first record of an attempt to contrive a writing machine went back to 1714, when Henry Mill, an Englishman, took out a patent. It was not until 1866, however, that the first practical machine was constructed by a printer and a blacksmith, and several years later that machine was put into production by the Remington Company, makers of sewing machines and firearms.

The year 1873 saw the debut of the first stenographer, Miss Mary A. Sanders, who was taught to operate the machine for demonstration purposes.

Douglas Flintoff operated the movie projector.

Club Learns Justin Gilbert Invented Back Spacer On Typewriter

A Victoria man invented the back-spacing key on the modern typewriter, one of the most important developments for the convenience of typists, the Rotary Club learned at its luncheon today.

Justin Gilbert, inventor, craftsman and maker of fine violins, and member of the Rotary Club, stood up to receive the applause of the club after Arthur Kerr, manager of the local Remington-Rand office, had told of his work.

Spencer's Sports and Social Club Holds Annual Banquet

F. A. Tadman was unanimously re-elected president of the Spencer's Sports and Social Club at the annual meeting and banquet, held Tuesday evening in Spencer's dining-room.

Miss K. Elston and Miss Biddy Boyce were unanimously elected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Officers chosen for the social committee were Jim O'Connor, Miss Sadie Underwood, Miss Bernice Collier, Miss Dora Higgins and Victor Simmons.

Mrs. D. S. Spencer, honorary vice-president, was the special guest of the evening, and for her constant interest in the club, a beautiful corsage of flowers was presented to her by Miss Elston, the secretary.

The gaily decorated head table was centred by the J. W. Spencer Challenge Trophy for inter-sport football, which for the last four years has been held by the Victoria team.

Mr. Tadman, who gave the address of welcome, said the meeting was the biggest ever held by the club. W. H. Wightman, superintendent of the store, and W. G. Grant, chairman of the sick benefit committee, replied.

The annual picnic at Shawangin Lake and the Spencer annual ball at the Empress Hotel were listed as outstanding events of the year by the secretary in his report. The treasurer, Miss Underwood, reported a bank balance of over $300. Both Miss Elston and Miss Underwood were presented with bouquets in recognition of their splendid work.

Other reports were given by F. C. Harper, choir; F. Smith, football; Miss W. Robinson, dramatic; W. Smith, tennis, and A. Whitfield, social.

A general review of the work of the club was given by T. Ross, past president, who also presented a cigarette case to Jim O'Connor as the most helpful member of the dramatic club.

Interspersed with community singing, an attractive programme was conducted by Mr. Whitfield. Miss Mattie Griffin presented a military tap dance. Miss Phoebe Newman and A. Kerr gave a skit, "A Romance on the Board Walk." William Harkness entertained with magic; Len Foster played tin whistle solos, B. MacGill did a shadow play, and Jack Trace and Norville Peterson put on a skit.

MAY SHELVE FIRE ISSUE

Mayor Prepared to Recommend Continuance of Present Policies to Expiration

Mayor Andrew McGavin will recommend to the City Council that it retain its existing fire policies until they expire, before taking action toward altering its stand on the matter, according to a statement today.

"Subject to the City Council's approval, the city will continue to carry its insurance under the existing policies, at the low rate in force on May 9, prior to the raise in mercantile risks," the mayor said. "When those policies expire, the entire matter will be revived."

His decision to make that recommendation to the council followed legal opinions from the city solicitor and city counsel stating the city could not wipe out policies renewed on June 9 without being liable for payment of high short term rates for the period from the renewal to date.

Miss Harlow was stricken last Sat-steadily worse.

Letters To The Editor

A "BACK SEAT" SOCIAL CREDITER

To the Editor:—Your correspondent
"Old Dollar Bill," criticizes the wisdom of the Social Credit movement entering the field of politics. He implies that he is a Social Crediter himself and wishes the movement every success. He also expresses disapproval of dictatorialism. In addition he goes out of his way trying to disparage those who are diligently and sincerely working for the success of the cause
by referring to them as "old time party heelers," which statement is without foundation in fact. He then finishes his mental meanderings by expressing a fear that the operation of Social Credit might end up in the hands of a dictatorship.

It is a pity that his zeal (?) for the cause should lead him into airing objections and opinions in the press which should be expressed at the meetings of the associations of the Social Credit League of B.C. where policies are decided upon by majority vote. His letter is a type of "backseat driving" and does not conform to democratic procedure. His is the way of the dictator, but he does not seem to know it. His baseless slur of "party heelers" is quite in keeping with his writing under a pen-name. I invite him to support his statement with the names of those he refers to and to subscribe his own at the same time.

"The air" and "beaming" of party politics" which he speaks of,
has been noticeably absent at all the Social Credit meetings. His letter supplies the only instance of this,
so far as I am aware.

I would advise him not to worry about Douglas Social Credit ever being operated by a dictatorship, as the two "do not mix." He should know this before airing his very premature opinions in the press.

J. W. HIGHAM, 3458 Bethune Avenue.

THOUGHTS OF BARNST MEN

To the Editor:—The Ottawa Journal, under the headline, "Glittering Generalities," complains that some well-meaning writers while outlining main national problems in correspondence with the press are lamentably short on offering solutions.

Now the writer finds in certain recent issues the following constructive solutions offered by outstanding Canadians who are not politicians.

Concerning the wheat problem, Sir Robert Falconer says: "It will be solved not by securing for a few years more markets and higher prices.
We must ask how much wheat we should grow, and in what proportion to other agricultural products."

Concerning unemployment, Sir E.
W. Beatty is quoted: "I am not sufficient of a careless optimist to believe that this country can remain permanently under-populated in a world of nations most of whom are by our standards seriously overpopulated. It is essential that we recommence the process of settling the fertile soil which still remains unused."

Likewise, Mr. A. G. Partridge, president of the Goodyear Tire Co., says:
"Our biggest opportunity is in increasing our internal trade, which would attract many of the right kind of immigrants. The proper kind of immigrant," he asserts, "would help not hinder our recovery."

Mr. Ross Macdonald, president, Canadian Steel Co., asserts: "Unemployment is no longer a personal concern. In a country richly endowed with farm lands we are losing, through authority's dalliance, all realization of our valuable heritage, and that living on the soil is a fundamental means of livelihood," he further asserts,
"steps should be taken to stimulate opportunities for gainful occupation as a substitute for relief."

Mr. C. E. Gravel, Canadian Chamber of Commerce, advocates removing duplication of services between federal and provincial governments,
as for instance, experimental farms.

MALCOLM CAMERON.

CORRECTING "OLD DOLLAR BILL"

To the Editor:—Permit me to correct some of the mistakes contained in "Old Dollar Bill's" letter on Social Credit and Social Crediters.

Mistake number one: That Social Credit is only a national and international matter. It is also a provincial one, and that is why Major Douglas is coming out to assist Alberta, and that is why there is a Social Credit party in B.C.

Mistake number two: That Social Crediters "stick to the education of the masses on the subject." While it is desirable that as many people as possible study the technique of Social Credit it is futile to expect the masses to do so.

Major Douglas realized this years ago and simply urges that the masses demand that their government remove poverty, unemployment and the threat of war, which can only be done by the introduction of Social Credit.

The government must avoid Mr.
Aberhart's mistake, and engage the specially trained technicians who know how it should be introduced and operated—even members of Parliament are not expected to become Social Credit technicians.

Mistake number three: "Our Social Crediters are composed chiefly of old-time party heelers." This is an amazing piece of fiction. For the Social Credit leaders heartily hate politics in its present-day application and could only be induced to enter politics after considerable urging.

"Old Dollar Bill" has a perfect right to his opinions, absurd as they are,
but we unhesitatingly assert that the Social Credit leaders and workers are exactly the opposite of his description of them. It is a joy and a privilege to be associated with such a public-spirited, honorable, and highly intelligent body of people.

If all Social Crediters were as hesitant and as timid as "Old Dollar Bill"
there would be little hope for Social Credit, so, come on, "Old Dollar Bill," and get into circulation.

R. J. AITKIN,
36 Maddock Ave., Saanich.

BRUCE AT KILLICRANKIE

To the Editor:—"Yesterday" writes Bruce Hutchison, "In the Pass of Killiecrankie, where Don of Claver-house, Viscount Dundee, and his hardfought Highlanders routed the English, I talked to a Scot . . . His sons fought there with Dundee."

Possibly they did, but not against the English, who were not among those present. John Graham of Claver-house was known as "Bloody Clavers" to the Covenanters whom he had once harried so ruthlessly, and to the Low-landers generally; and as "Bonnie Dundee" to the Jacobites, here represented by the "barefooted Highlanders."

He was opposed by Scottish regiments who had served William of Orange abroad. It was these troops, led by General Mackay, who fled before the onslaught of the clans at Killiecrankie.

Though Bruce may be excused for feeling a little chesny while treading
the native heath of his forefathers, the sympathies and interests of the latter were probably diametrically opposed to those of "the Glory of the Graemes" and his northern har-barians.

I am entirely at one with those correspondents who have congratulated you on the services of so able and entertaining a columnist.

KEEPING THE FOLKS SCARED

To the Editor:—Is it not high time for those who honestly desire to get their thinking straight, to cease giving any importance to this constant anti-Communist propaganda? I assert:
The idea behind it is not the fear, that a few uneducated people (Communists) are planning by force to destroy our capitalist or so-called Christian civilization. Its purpose is simply to create a public scare, giving the interests an excuse to block progressive legislation that might affect their profits or menace their stranglehold upon the world.

It would indeed be interesting if some of our most respected and influential citizens would sponsor some sort of royal commission to report upon the "Communist menace" from the view point of its danger to the human race. The capitalist menace to humanity needs no special report.
Any half-wit can see that it leads downward; it teaches the strong to murder; its weaker ones to make bombs and bullets and its women to spend their time nursing the physical wrecks and dressing the wounds it causes.

THE COLUMBIA

Fine Cast Supports Him in New Western Story "Rio Grande Ranger"

Bob Allen's third starring western, Columbia's "Rio Grande Ranger," will open today at the Columbia Theatre.
Bob plays the part of a Ranger who attempts single-handedly to apprehend a band of desperadoes. Iris Meredith, a newcomer to the screen, enacts the leading feminine role.
Others in the cast include Paul Sutton, Hal Taliaferro and Robert Henry. Spencer Gordon Bennett directed, from the screen play by Nate Lester. Jacques and Cella Jaccard wrote the original story.

OAK BAY STARS
GREAT SINGER

Lawrence Tibbett Sings Leading Roles in "Under Your Spell"

A powerful and compelling story of a woman's sacrifice for her children thrilled and held audiences at the Oak Bay Theatre today when the motion picture version of Barry Ben-field's best-selling novel, "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie," unfolded itself with all the dramatic grandeur of the great novel.

Chosen as the vehicle for the first stellar picture appearance of Gladys George, celebrated stage actress, "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie" is a picture which will live long in the minds of those who have seen it. Not only is it a well-told and inspiring story, but the excellent performances by every member of its elaborate cast, and the fine production elements which went into it, make of this film a candidate for top cinematic honors in every department.

"Under Your Spell," with Wendy Barrie and Lawrence Tibbett, is the second feature.

FAMED PAIR
AT CAPITOL

Fred Astaire and Ginger
Rogers Have Leading Roles
in "Shall We Dance?"

Love in the headlines comprises the theme of "Shall We Dance," RKO Radio's now musical spectacular starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, and now at the Capitol Theatre.

Presenting the screen's dancing actress in the roles of a famous ballet dancer and a noted revue artist, respectively, the story complications revolve around their supposed marriage.
Even though they emphatically deny the rumor, the two figures are so famous in the theatrical world that the newspapers devote considerable space to their affairs, and they are finally forced to a unique solution of their hilarious difficulties.

This gaily humorous plot is worked out against glittering backgrounds of Paris and New York, and aboard an ocean liner, in the engine room of which Astaire does one of the most spectacular dances of his career, in rhythm to the beat of the giant engines.

POPULAR STAR
AT THE PLAZA

Shirley Temple Stars in
"The Poor Little Rich Girl"

Singing five great new song hits and performing astonishing new dance routines, the talented Shirley Temple is now at the Plaza Theatre in what has been pronounced her greatest hit,
"The Poor Little Rich Girl."

The second feature is a thrilling western film, "The Border Patrol," starring George O'Brien.

Kipling Story
Here Tomorrow

"Elephant Boy," the new Alexander Korda production which will make its bow at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow, is at once a thrilling and tender screen adaptation of Rudyard Kipling's immortal Jungle Book story,
"Tomal of the Elephants."

The result of the latest expedition of Robert Flaherty, that indefatigable explorer-director who gave us "Namook of the North," "Tabu," "Moana of the South Seas" and "Man of Aran," this film carried him—and his co-director, Zoltan Korda—into the dense jungles around Mysore, India, and took some two years to make.

"Elephant Boy" more than justifies the hardships and perils confronted in its production, for it is at once grand entertainment and perhaps the most ambitious and effective natural background picture to come to the screen.

Atlas to Show
"Silent Barriers"

"Silent Barriers," Gaumont's epic of the building of a coast-to-coast railroad in the 1880's, has been selected as the new and impressive attraction to open at the Atlas Theatre tomorrow night. There is a grandeur and virility about "Silent Barriers," which makes programme film fare, no matter how arduous and amusing, look tame and rather unimportant.

Comedy-drama This Week

Victoria's first civic theatre venture will go before the public tomorrow and Saturday evenings and Victorians will be able to judge for themselves just what they think of it.

The musical comedy-drama "It Happened in Hollywood" will be presented as a first civic theatre venture and the excellence of its local cast assures its success.

Ernest Frederick Chester, who has had wide experience in New York, London and Hollywood, is directing this play, in addition to taking the leading male role. He confidently believes Victoria should be able to support a permanent civic theatre, and is working definitely with this aim in view.

He has the keen support of all little theatre associations in Greater Victoria. All are co-operating with Mr. Chester to establish a permanent theatre.

IV-PENGUINS NAD FURRY ANIMALS

We think of penguins as animals of the far south, and it seems strange to find some of them up near the line of the equator! Yet they live in the Galapagos Islands.

Galapagos penguins are the smallest members of the penguin family, and stand only about fourteen inches high. Some are captured and taken aboard a steamer. They did not seem to mind being captives, and waddled around the deck, trying to learn all they could about the vessel.

When they go into the water, penguins often jump in feet first. They are expert swimmers and good divers. Like the Galapagos cormorants, they cannot fly.

Sea-lions exist in fairly large numbers around the coasts, but probably came to the islands by way of the Humboldt current within the past few thousand years. The old, old residents of the islands are reptiles, insects and birds.

Within the past few hundred years, furry animals made their homes on the islands. These include wild pigs, wild donkeys and wild dogs. All were brought to the islands, in the first place, by men who came to settle, or else their ancestors swam ashore when certain vessels were wrecked off the coasts.

Most early efforts to form colonies were failures, but the settlers had brought livestock from South America. With the people gone, it did not take the animals long to become "wild."

Early in the present century it was estimated that 20,000 wild donkeys were roaming about James Island, on Albemarle Island, by far the largest, it was figured there were about 40,000 wild cattle. Hunters have cut down the number since that time, but a great many of the beasts still roam about.

Wild dog and cats, descended from pets of sailors and settlers, are also plentiful. The wild dogs are a danger to iguanas, and on certain islands all the big lizards have been killed or driven away.

Dogs eat the flesh of iguanas, but most settlers have felt it was not fit for food. The big-shelled tortoises, on the other hand, have found men their worst enemies. Thousands upon thousands have been killed for food. In telling about them, more than a century ago, an American sea captain wrote these words:

"These animals are so fat as to require neither butter nor lard to cook them. The meat is easy to digest. The finest green turtle is no more to be compared with them than coarse beef to the finest veal."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1937

Benefic aspects dominate today, according to astrology. While it is read as an unimportant rule, this date should be most beneficial to students and to all others who are trained to think.

Under this star there should be a feeling of serenity. It is a day for arranging one's plans and should have a stimulating effect upon the imagination. Optimism is encouraged under today's aspects.

It is a fortunate rule for women who seek employment or promotion. There is to be much work for girls trained in office detail as the summer advances.

Although it is Friday the stars smile upon weddings. Brides of today may look forward to attaining opulence and even wealth.

New discoveries of gold will rouse excitement in many places this summer. The United States will profit greatly.

Warning is given that bitterness in speech and in printed words will be prevalent among men who are leaders of thought in this country.

Sensational talks over the radio are to cause trouble in unexpected ways. The stars which encourage secret manoeuvring may affect all channels of public communication.

Amazing progress will be made in motion pictures owing to improved methods of recording sound, color and action, it is prophesied.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of advancement in business or professional affairs. Women will be fortunate in investment.

Children born on this day probably will be studious and fond of intellectual pursuits. Subjects of this sign succeed through industry.

Charles Conrad Abbott, naturalist and archaeologist, was born on this day, 1843. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX--In pre-depression days I had a good business and supported my family consisting of myself, wife and one child, in comfort. We had a maid and my wife had no work to do. Then came disaster. We had to let the servant go. My wife refused to do any laundry work for me, or to sew on a button, so I had to learn how to wash, starch and iron my own shirts. She refused also to cook my breakfast, so I had to learn to do that, too. Thanks to the soldiers' bonus, I have been able to go back into business in a small way, but when I suggested to my wife that she help me she refused, saying that when a woman once started to help her husband in making a living she had to keep on at it, so she was never going to begin it. What kind of a wife do you think she is? C.K.R.

Answer--I think she must be a fastidious, or else you wouldn't stand for her. Maybe she is so beautiful that you are content to regard her as a living picture and a parlor ornament without expecting her to be a household convenience. Perhaps she is like Scheherazade--such a spellbinder that she keeps you always interested and amused. Perhaps she is one of those sweet, useless, helpless, clinging-vine women that men support just because they haven't the courage and backbone to tear away the parasitic tendrils that have wrapped themselves around them. There must be some reason.

Goodness only knows what it is. I don't. I have wondered over the situation thousands of times when I have seen men putting up with wives who enslaved them, who were lazy, selfish and so no-account that they couldn't have held any other job in the world except the wife job for five minutes.

When a woman marries she takes upon herself certain obligations and duties. She becomes her husband's working partner and she is just as much bound to pull her weight in the boat as he is. She is just as much bound to do her best to make him a comfortable home as he is bound to do his best to support her. If she refuses to do this, she is a quitter.

Yes, plenty of women do it. Plenty of women think their husbands should work their fingers to the bone to provide them with the comforts and luxuries of life, but that they are not called upon to make any return. They think they should take all and give nothing. I get hundreds of letters from men telling me that they have to get up and cook their own breakfasts before starting to work, and that when they return their wives demand that they help get the dinner, clean up the house and take care of the children.

I have no words strong enough to express my contempt for the able-bodied wife who doesn't get up in the morning and give her hard-working husband a good breakfast and a cheery smile to sustain him during the hours he toils for her. But I have an equal contempt for the poor boob of a man who will let his wife put over such a raw deal on him. Every henpecked man gets exactly what he deserves, because all he needs is just spunk enough to make his wife understand that she has to do her part, or else she goes back to Mamma.

Every woman makes the kind of a wife her husband demands that she shall be. The reason women are slovenly around home, the reason they nag, the reason they are poor cooks, the reason they don't sew on their husbands' buttons, the reason they ruin their husband with their extravagance is because their husbands let them get away with it. For proof of this you have only to note that business women, who know that they shall get tired if they don't make good, are trim and tidy. They don't talk back to their bosses and they do the work properly that they contracted to do.

Women can get divorces from their husbands for lack of support. Men should be able to get divorces from their wives for lack of good-housekeeping.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX--My husband and I have been married a few years and have been very happy. Not long ago, however, he threw a thunderbolt into our peaceful home by suddenly telling me that he was tired of me, that he had ceased to love me, that he was through and was going off with another woman, and that I must get a divorce. He went, and in less than three weeks he was back, crestfallen, disheveled, humble and penitent, begging me to forgive him and take him back and never to mention the matter again. I promised and am making good on my word. The woman seems to have disappeared into thin air. So has George's money. I don't understand men. Are they all like this? MARY.

Answer--No woman understands men. Perhaps they don't understand themselves, especially as regards their reactions toward women. Even the wisest man who ever lived set down a serpent on a rock and the way of a man with a maid as among the unfathomable mysteries.

No woman can understand why a man can go jogging along contentedly as Old Dobbin in double harness for years and years and then suddenly, without rhyme or reason, kick up his heels and jump the bars and bolt, thousands of men do this. They love their wives. They haven't a fault to find with their wives. They are fond of their homes and devoted to their children and pillars in the church. But on an impulse they will throw everything to the winds and run off with a platinum blonde of whom they will be sick and tired almost before you can say Jack Robinson.
